

Avetak Oy Permission for Use of Personal Data

1. Definition According to the Personal Data Act The usability of the customer database entails proper ways to operate and utilize personal data. Personal data can be used in necessary actions, such as making contracts or creating a company register, with the individual's permission. Personal data should be processed securely. If personal data are not needed for the individual themselves but only for company information, such as business ID, company size, and number of employees, company details are publicly available and can be purchased. In this case, the legality of using company information speaks for itself when it is essential and necessary for business operations.

2. Purpose of Personal Data Usage Service provider Avetak Oy requests personal data during the use of online store services for the purpose of authentication. The customer must accept the use of personal data before continuing the service. The purpose of using personal data is based on customer identification and verification of the correct individual. This is a necessary action for minimizing risks in business operations.

3. Collection and Storage of Personal Data Personal data are not pre-registered in the database. Personal data are collected only when the user needs to authenticate and/or provide personal data during an order. This process leads to the data being stored in the registry. Personal data are handled in a protected and secure manner.

4. Register Description Users of the service have the opportunity to receive a register description about the data controller, if necessary, its representative, the purpose of personal data, and to whom the information is routinely disclosed. The register description can be found on the website www.avetak.fi.

5. Permission to Use Personal Data With this agreement, I grant the data controller, Service Provider Avetak Oy, the right to use my personal data appropriately and legally. Attachment: Register Description of the service provider.
